The friends of Frank Helm are glad to learn of his appointment as Governor's staff. His choice is a good one, as Frank is a deserving fellow, which is shown by his connection with the Governor. He joined the company as a private, not knowing but one or two of the members, and after a short time was elected First Sergeant, which position he held during the company's visit to Houston. After their return he was elected Second Lieutenant, which position he held during the campaign at Richmond, becoming acquainted with all the men and officers.

Our German friend, Julius Wecker, had a narrow escape from starvation last week on the Wash Road, being snowbound for over thirty-six hours. Julius began to get frantic, and at one time organized a foraging party, headed by himself. The first inhabitant found by the party begged money for them to get home, and Julius was hungry, and he at once remembered the location of his fellow-sufferers in the snowbound train, and what he did is still a mystery, only that he left a $5 gold piece on the table for the sick child.

THE MODEL.

There is a better and more hopeful feeling in jobbing circles in the dry goods trade, not so much on account of the higher temperature, as upon the removal of the obstructions to railroad travel, so that it is now possible to fulfill orders. Prices are unchanged, but there is a perceptible firmer feeling. Groceries meet with a good demand and average firm. There is a better demand for canned goods. Dried fruits are more active, and slightly firmer. Fish have also improved somewhat. Cheese is less dull and winter remains quiet. Eggs are slightly uncertain, and quotations are almost useless as a guide to what can or cannot be obtained for arrivals.
